This week's events

Whole College assembly this week was led by Mr Alemu who delivered a captivating and informative assembly on Black History Month by blending storytelling, historical facts, and interactive participation. He focused on the significance of the month, shared inspiring stories of key Black historical figures, and encouraged students to reflect on diversity and inclusion. Through engaging visuals and an enthusiastic delivery, he left a lasting impact on the audience, deepening their understanding of Black history.

On Tuesday Year 10 then received an assembly led by the Head of Key Stage 4 Mr Pyke on the theme of 'Taking Responsibility'. The assembly explored what it means to take responsibility and how important it is that we take responsibility for ourselves and our learning, even when it may not be the easiest option.

On Thursday 25 students had the opportunity to take part in London's first every JD-UP. This was an amazing experience for our year 10 students who engaged in several talks and activities led by business professionals who offered advice and access to opportunities at JD as part of the commitment to social mobility and supporting young people.

Next week our Year 10 students will have the opportunity to engage with our external partners who will be delivering a BHM empowering boys' workshop and BHM Dance workshop led by Homebros. This promises to be an inspirational experience I am sure our students will appreciate.

As always, we thank you for your ongoing support in making sure students are arriving to school on time, every day, ready to learn. I look forward to sharing more stories of success with you in next week's newsletter.

Homework Champions – Spotlight on Science

This week our Year 10's have demonstrated fantastic attitude towards their learning and progress with all subjects through completion of Homework. Next week during tutor time students will be working on revision and homework schedules to support them keeping up to date with homework and help to ensure we are all keeping up with the high standards and expectations we have set ourselves last week.

This week's Homework champions are:

Gabrielle
Blessing B
Aidan H
Abdoul F
Poppy F
Yazmin K

Who have all received a special shoutout from their subject teachers to commend their effort and quality of work produced!

Homework Push

Please continue to check that students are keeping up with homework; this is particularly important now they are studying their GCSE content.

If students are struggling, please encourage them to see or email their teachers before the deadline for support.
